SMALL DAMAGE TO BREAKWATER

Walter F. Dillingham, of the Hawaiian Dredging Company, returned recently from Kahului, where he went to look over the damage done to the breakwater being built at that port by the heavy sea last week. While there was considerable harm done, he states that nothing serious occurred and the entire work there should be completed by the middle of December. In speaking of the breakwater yesterday he said:

"The damage was caused by a very heavy swell, which was not accompanied by any wind to speak of. It washed about 150 feet of the outer end of the breakwater, at the point where the dome was to be, down to the level of the sea and destroyed two trestles inside, one 1400 feet in length and the other, and outer, 1250 feet long. There was no damage done which cannot be readily repaired. The inner end of the structure was not damaged at all, the water seeping through the coral and losing its strength.

"A small breakwater has been constructed temporarily on the opposite side which deflects the current coming from the beach on the Waialua side and will keep the basin from filling up with sand. The basin itself has been dredged down to depth in practically every portion, except near the outer edge, where there are about 3000 yards more of material to be moved. This is being worked on at the present time. The material which has been taken up has been used to reinforce the inner portion of the breakwater, and, as it is about 75 per cent loose coral, makes excellent material for this work. In this way the breakwater is from 400 to 600 feet in width at the inner sections.

"At the outer edge, where most of the damage occurred, our plan has been to place large concrete blocks, weighing from five to six tons apiece and this will be followed out. The water at this point is forty feet deep.

"As soon as we have completed the work at Kahului we will move our entire plant down to Honolulu, and start in the big contract which we have taken here. The Nevada will probably bring down the heavy parts of the plant which would be too much for the Inter-Island steamers to carry. We expect to begin the work of dredging in this harbor by the first of the year."

The regular bi-monthly meeting of the members of the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce will be held at the rooms of the Chamber (Stangenwald building), today at 3 o'clock p. m. Mr. Charles D. Willard, of Los Angeles, has kindly consented to give a talk on "The building of a harbor at San Pedro and its relation to the commerce of Hawaii." A full attendance is hoped for.

CAPT. GRUBE DID NOT MEAN INSULT

Captain Grube, of the Marie Hackfeld, meant no discourtesy to the United States through his flying the Hawaiian flag when he entered the harbor last Monday, according to German Consul Protenhauer, who is also vice president of the H. Hackfeld company, to whom the ship belongs. When asked for an expression on the subject yesterday he said:

"No, no, no, there was no such thing meant. If you knew Captain Grube, you would never think of it for a moment. The trouble came over the fact that he had no American flag on board his ship and he hoisted the Hawaiian flag, because he thought that it was the greatest compliment that he could pay to Honolulu, where he has many friends. He did it from a spirit of friendliness and courtesy, not of discourtesy by any means. "I cannot understand how anyone would think that he would mean this as an insult to America. He is not that sort of a man, but one of the nicest men whom you could find. It is unfortunate that this has occurred and I am sure that it will never happen again, as he now has an American flag and has given me the Hawaiian emblem as a present, which I am glad to have. It has been entirely a misunderstanding."

Frank Peterson alias Manuel Dirigo, was up for the eighteenth time this year for drunkenness before Judge Andrade. Frank is such an old timer around the police station that he was only given thirty days. Peterson is a witness now against a Japanese saloon keeper, who sold him booze, and his detention on the reef will at least give him a clear head when he is called upon to take the stand in the Circuit Court.
